Michelle Stone 11:39 AM

Great work! I really liked how well you identified the techniques used. Just make sure you use capital letters and full stops in your sentences

Your teacher will write a personal comment on your work sample and return it to you.

Note: It is important that you check your feedback so that you can make the improvements suggested by your teacher.

When do we receive feedback?

See Harry Styles receive feedback from the judges.

GIVING FEEDBACK

BE KIND

WHEN GIVING FEEDBACK, TELL THEM SOMETHING THAT WAS GOOD ABOUT THEIR WORK. DON'T FOCUS IT ABOUT THE PROBLEM.

The Paralympics.

What are the Paralympics?

The Paralympics are international, multi-sport events contested by athletes with a range of disabilities. There are summer and winter Paralympic Games, each occurring after the Olympic Games, every four years.

There are over 600 medal events over the summer and winter games, with athletes from around 170 nations set to compete in the next Paralympics.

It all began in 1944, when Dr. Ludwig Guttman presided over a spinal injuries centre in the Stoke Mandeville Hospital to assist those injured in WW2. Ludwig believed sport played an important role in rehabilitation for injured military personnel that not only helped them build strength, but self respect too. Under his directorship, sport for rehabilitation soon became recreational, and then competitive.

Guttman organised the first Stoke Mandeville Games on 29 July 1948, the same day as the beginning of the London Olympics. The annual event continued to expand until Guttman's vision finally came to fruition in 1960 when it was held alongside the 1960 Summer Olympics in Rome.

This was the first official Paralympic Games, and while it would continue to expand and open its doors for more people to compete in the future, it was an international milestone for athletes with disabilities.

Compare

In the table below, compare how the Paralympics Games are the same or different to the Olympics Games. Can you draw some ways they are the same or different? Perhaps you could add a sentence.

The Paralympics (differences)	How are they the same	The Olympics (differences)
